FALMOUTH INSTITUTE

Advanced Indian Law

for Tribal Leaders

November 16-18, 2009 • Las Vegas, NV

This popular class offers a comprehensive look at major court decisions and legislation affecting Indian Country. It includes a brief overview of Congress' involvement in Indian law, the federal regulatory process and how laws are implemented. It provides a review of pending amendments and their implications for tribal government and economic development, including proposed amendments to the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act (IGRA) and the Employee Free Choice Act (EFCA). We'll also discuss tribal relationships with states for issues such as gaming, ICWA, jurisdiction and reciprocity agreements.

Important developments in jurisdiction, taxation and employment case law will be discussed. We'll examine Colorado River Indian Tribes v. National Indian Gaming Commission (CRIT) and other important cases. You'll also develop practical skills through case studies and exercises.

Join us. This exciting, three-day class provides an in-depth understanding of current Native American law issues.

This advanced class is perfect for tribal chairpersons, attorneys, gaming commissioners, council members, board members, economic development directors, law enforcement officers and tribal administrative officers.
